ADA AND DURANT DIVIDE HONORS

ADA WINS READING CONTESTS AT HOME AND TAHLEQUAH, BUT LOSES BOTH DEBATES.

In the triangular contests among the three normals on the east side held Friday evening, the Durant debaters won over the Ada team in the contest held here, and also the debate against Tahlequah held at Durant. Tahlequah also defeated the Ada team sent there. In the reading contests Ada won both at home and at Tahlequah.

The program opened here with a musical number by the normal orchestra. Miss Marguerite Wimbish, representing Ada, then gave her reading. The young lady is naturally talented in this line, and her rendition was almost perfect in every particular. When she had finished it was plain that her opponent would have something to do if she excelled Ada's representative, Miss Gertrude Nelson, representing Durant, followed and she did her part most creditably.

After a number by the girls quartet the debate opened. The question was whether or not tolls should be levied on American shipping passing through the Panama canal. L. W. Thompson of Durant opened for the affirmative. He is a young man of promise and handled his subject in an able manner. He also possessed a good delivery which added force to his argument.

Max Brents of Ada followed for the negative, and the masterly way in which he handled his subject would have done credit to one much older than he. His argument was sound and logical and his delivery splendid.

W. N. Chitwood then presented further argument for the affirmative. His argument was logical and to the point and showed evidence of close application.

Boone Jones closed for the negative. His argument dealt with the economic side of the question, and was a highly creditable effort. He is a good reasoner and will be heard from again in the future. His address showed every indication of hard work on his part.

The judges selected for the occasion were Supts. J. C. Hamilton of the Coalgate schools, J. H. Norman of Francis and Newman of Murray county. The last named was unavoidably detained, and the first two decided the contests. The decision in the reading contest gave Miss Wimbish 178 points out of a possible 200, and Miss Nelson 172. The debate was much closer, Durant being given 177 points and Ada 176 1-2. Max Brents was adjudged the best individual debater, an honor he may well appreciate.

Judge Tom D. McKeown presided over the meeting in his usual pleasing manner.

As a result of the various contests one of the Durant teams will be pitted against the Weatherford normal, and Miss Wimbish or Miss Meyers, the winner at Tahlequah, will represent the east side in the final contest.

RESULT OF CONTESTS ON WEST SIDE

Weatherford, March 28.—The debating team of Southwestern Normal won the decision in the debate with Northwestern Normal here Friday night. The question debated was: "Resolved, That merchant vessels whose home ports are in the United States, should be permitted to pass through the Panama canal free of toll charges."

L. C. Ray and Leo Scott for the Northwestern Normal defended the position that the merchant marine of the United States should be permitted to pass through the canal free of charges. R. Randall and Russell Borgman for the Southwestern Normal contended that to exempt the United States merchant marine from the toll charges would be a discrimination against the shipping interests of other countries and tending to create a subsidy for the American vessels.

In the reading contest, the decision was awarded to the Southwestern Normal, represented by Miss Mable Reichman of Geary. The Northwestern Normal was represented in the reading contest by Miss Hermione Stuart of Alva.

At Edmond the Southwestern Normal won from the Central Normal, debating the canal question, and at Alva the Central Normal won from the Northwestern Normal. Central Normal was awarded the decision over the Southwestern Normal in the reading contest, and at Alva the Northwestern Normal was awarded the decision in the reading contest between that school and the Central Normal.

The execution of two members of the Allen clan in Virginia will be a salutary warning that the law extends even to the mountains. It has always been hard to enforce a law in that section, for every man has been a law unto himself. The winchester has usually settled personal differences and it was this same law of the winchester and revolver that brought these men to the electric chair. Rather than see one of the clan suffer the disgrace of a short prison term the entire bunch attacked the court that sentenced him, and as a result two of the Allen are now in their graves and several others in the penitentiary. The day of the feudist has passed, even in the mountains.

This time the feature of the evening at the Majestic will be Broncho Billy and the Outlaw's Mother. A fine western story with G. M. Anderson playing his favorite role. One on Willie is a continuous laugh all the way through. The Majestic always gives its patrons the best of every thing going and the program this evening will prove no exception.

The News is in receipt of a communication from a Boston brokerage house offering a big block of Oklahoma Central bonds at a bargain price. Evidently the fame of the growing wealth of this concern is spreading some distance from home. However, we have decided to invest our millions otherwise than in railroad bonds—that is, when we get hold of any millions. Next thing the income tax man will be after us.

In Friday's paper the News forgot to mention the fact that a part of the entertainment of the Woodmen at Hobart was given by the drum and life corps that made music at the Confederate reunion at Ada last summer. One of them took occasion to tell the News man that they had not forgotten the fine time they had here, and how well they were treated. Also, he asked particularly about J. W. Davis and family who entertained them while here.

Francis property took a great slump in value Monday. The decline was caused by the appearance of Nick Heard county assessor. There is no cause for alarm, however, as the market will recover rapidly as soon as Mr. Heard leaves town.—Francis Wigwam.

SUMMARY OF FLOOD SITUATION

Flood waters receded sufficiently last night to show that the number of people drowned in all the affected cities in Ohio and Indiana may not exceed 500. While many are still missing to friends and relatives, investigations made indicated that many were safe who had been thought lost. In Dayton careful estimates placed the number of deaths at 200 or fewer, although a meeting of the undertakers asserted that the total might be 800. Relief work went on rapidly in Dayton and all parts of the city were reached.

Columbus will have next to the largest loss of life, sixty bodies having already been found in the inundated portion of West Columbus.

Unverified figures for Miamisburg, Ohio, give fifty dead, but in all other flooded cities the figures fell off rapidly as relief expeditions covered the ground.

Hamilton, Ohio, which had reported as many as 250 dead, did not put forth any figures last night.

Mount Vernon did not confirm its previous report of fifty dead and no confirmation was had for thirty-two reported drowned at Venice, Ohio.

Chillicothe and Tiffin, Ohio, where there had been reports of fifty or more dead, each found eighteen corpses up to midnight.

The best figures from Piqua give a death toll of fifty persons.

Fremont and Middletown, Ohio, each had 14 dead. Maassillon 5, Zanesville 4, Troy, Ohio 9.

The Indiana total drowned are distributed as follows: Peru 20, Brookville 16, Fort Wayne 6 and Terre Haute 4. No bodies have been found in West Indianapolis where as many as 200 deaths were at one time reported.

With the situation somewhat alleviated in the flood-swept districts of Ohio and Indiana, a new menace threatened last night in the rise of rivers in southern valleys of both states.

At Cincinnati the Ohio, swelled by its tributaries north and south, caused alarm, and although the situation had not yet reached an acute stage reports from neighboring Kentucky towns indicate that warnings had been issued to the inhabitants to seek points of safety from the rising water.

In Indiana alarm was felt in the valleys of the Ohio, Wabash and White rivers, but ample warning served in a measure to reduce the panic.

THE BIRTH OF AN IDEA.

Six or eight years ago the business men of Henderson, Ky., the metropolis of a large but lagging agricultural district, organized a commercial club and set out to make their town a young Pittsburg. They proclaimed Henderson's advantages on billboards and sent their cleverest talkers to interview capitalists in the large cities. But months and years slipped by, and scarcely any new factories were built. It took these men a long time to realize that they were wasting much precious time in misdirected effort. But at last came an inspiration. The progressive members of the club met the other day and resolved themselves into a crop improvement association, opened membership books to everybody that would pay the annual dues of one dollar, and hired a farm expert by the year. The idea became popular with the farmers who will control the policies of the organization. The Chicago Board of Trade became interested in the experiment and agreed to contribute $2,000 to help pay the first two years' expenses; and the Department of Agriculture will pay $50 a month of the expert's salary. The trained agriculturist will make laboratory tests of soils and dairy products, conduct practical demonstrations on farms, and give free advice to all who ask for it—in fact, do anything he sees fit for the promotion of better farming. The idea is a splendid one. It is based on the sound, fundamental truth that the soil is the source of new wealth. Most commercial clubs spend their energy and money trying to get factories away from other cities.—Collier's.

The majority of the directors of the Ada Commercial Club have expressed their opinion that the first important work this club should undertake is to secure better farming in this county.

W. S. MORRISON, President.

NORMAL NOTES

By MOIKE CASSIDY

Pres. Briles is expected back from Tahlequah accompanied by East Central's debating team and Helen Myers, victorious reader and Miss Clark, chaperone.

Mr. Norman who came down to hear the debate, returned to Francis this morning.

Miss Fausta Durham will spend Sunday with her parents at Holdenville. East Central is champion of readers of the east side now. Helen Myers won at Tahlequah while Marguerite Wimbish won here.

Mr. Hamilton one of the judges of the debate and reading last evening, returned to Coalgate last night.

The percentage of the speakers and respective teams will be announced later. East Central will be "sittin' there" when it is announced.

The band will practice Monday. All members be present.

Miss Beatrice Craig will visit friends and relatives in Stratford Sunday.

There is one thing you hear among students and faculty today, is that the best of friendliness exists between East Central and Southeastern. The two schools work to the advantage of the other as well as fight for supremacy in athletics. In fact you can call the two schools "sisters" if you wish. We will never forget this defeat as well as the one Thanksgiving day when they beat us in football. With blood in our eyes, we will get revenge, Pauline.

ALLENS EXECUTED IN VIRGINIA

Richmond, Va., March 28.—Floyd Allen, leader of the outlaws who committed the Hillsville courthouse murders, and his son, Claude Swanson, were electrocuted at the state penitentiary this afternoon. The elder Allen was terribly un-nerved by excitement incident to a delay of six hours in carrying out the sentence.

He went to the chair at 1:20. He was pronounced dead in six minutes. His son went to the chair five minutes later.

With the governor's refusal to grant respite or commute sentences, the hope of the Allens died last night.

Every justice of the supreme court, beginning with Chief Justice White of Virginia, was asked to grant a supersedeas in order that the question of double jeopardy might be taken to the supreme court. But every justice refused.

The execution of Floyd Allen and his son, Claude Swanson Allen, sentenced to die in the electric chair between sunrise and sunset today, marks the first blow of justice upon the notorious Allen clanmen whose lawlessness for years held the natives of the Virginia mountains in terror and culminated early last year in the shooting up of the Carroll county court when five persons lost their lives. The news of the crime sent a thrill of horror throughout the nation and the shocked Virginia authorities moved expeditiously to bring the criminals to justice.

"A NATION OF DYSPEPTICS"

American People Have Been Called. Hurried and careless habits of eating, irregular meals and foods that do not harmonize, tend to weaken the digestive organs and result in different forms of stomach trouble.

If you are one of the unfortunate who have drifted into this condition, eat simple foods only, slowly, regularly and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

Mr. W. E. Wa'herhouse of Portland, Me., says: "My experience leads me to believe that no other remedy equals Vinol for stomach troubles. After suffering for years and trying all kinds of remedies without help, Vinol cured my stomach trouble and built me up so I can eat heartily without the slightest distress."

The recovery of Mr. M. Waterhouse was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cod's livers—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol. One month has passed since the plan for giving school credit for home industrial work was put into the Ada public schools. The following pupils are ahead at this date.

Willard School—Smoker Davis, 6,228; Jack Davis, 5,228.

The contest closes May 18th and the two pupils at each of the schools having the highest number of minutes to their credit will receive cash prizes.

Miss Mary Kate Baker was in from Knox today. She has been teaching in the school of that place for some time past and will be in full charge for the coming month, which will be the last of the term.

Lady in Goodwater Describes Her Distressing Experience and Tells How She Was Finally Relieved.

Goodwater, Mo.—"Ever since I was a little girl," says Mrs. Riley Laramore, "I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia. I suffered misery after eating, and had terrible heartburn."

I thought I had to suffer this way as long as I lived, but when I began to take Thedford's Black-Draught, in small doses, every night, the heartburn was all gone in a few days, and I could eat without distress.

I took two small packages in all, and although that was some time ago, the dyspepsia has not returned.

I speak a good word for Thedford's Black-Draught whenever I have the opportunity."

If eating causes distress, we urge you to try Thedford's Black-Draught. It cleanses the system, helps the stomach to digest its food, regulates the bowels, and stimulates the liver.

It acts gently and is without bad after-effects. Try it. Price 25c.

Prof. M. H. Finch, principal of the Cedar Grove school near Francis, was an Ada visitor today.

Mrs. Norris Entertains Bridge Club.

On Saturday afternoon of last week Mrs. P. A. Norris was hostess to the Saturday Bridge Club.

NESBITT--WRIGHT

Owing to the fact that the News reporter was out of town the first of the week, a very important event escaped notice at the time. This was the marriage of Mr. Robert A. Nesbitt of Ada and Miss Robbie Wright of Farmersville, Texas, which took place Sunday at the home of Mrs. Mattie Wright, mother of the bride. The couple returned to Ada Wednesday. Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moore entertained them and a number of friends at a dinner at their home.

Although the reporter has never had the honor of an acquaintance with the bride, he feels that Mr. Nesbitt made no mistake and was extremely fortunate in winning her heart and hand.

The groom has for a long time held a responsible position with the First National bank of Ada, and is one of the most promising and popular young men of the city.

Miss Violet Moore Entertains.

At the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moore on E. 13th, Miss Violet Moore entertained a large number of friends Saturday afternoon with an Easter party. The festivities of the day received due recognition in the elaborate decorations consisting of Easter lilies and other blooming pot plants.

Miss Violet met the guests at the door with a pleasant greeting and ushered them to Miss Edith Chapman who directed them to the cloak room. Miss Inez Fisher and Miss Pearl Gay presided over the register where nearly a hundred registered during the afternoon. Miss Louise Hardin distributed the favors. In the dining room where all was adorned with pink and white and many candles burning, Annie Louise Shaw, Roberta Allen, Elouise Mason and Julia Harris served delicious pink and white ice cream and cake and marshmallow rabbits. From the dining room they were taken to the punch bowl by Miss Gladys Barringer where Miss Annie Carrol Simpson and Miss Miriam Spawr presided.

Music was furnished by Master Floyd Haynes, Miss Edith Constant and Master Vernon Walters and reading by Miss Inez Fisher.

They were all directed to the yard and enjoyed themselves for a short time, and where Mr. Stall took a picture of the group.

All departed for their homes agreeing that Miss Violet knew how to entertain and that it was an affair to be held in delightful remembrance by all present.

What Home and Family Did for This Man.

A writer in the March American Magazine says:
"Six years ago I was twenty-five, just out of college, good-looking, carefree, irresponsible, and—happy. I thought I had circumnavigated the realm of knowledge, knew I was destined for great things, and of course affected the usual cynical attitude toward life and all its problems. With this psychological background, minus both a job and a dot, I married. My friends reread Milton in search of suitable expletives to characterize my idiotcy. I moved to another town and got busy. Soon I became busier, and before the year was out the advent of No. 1 made things hum. I threw overboard a lot of scholastic junk and just managed to scotch the wolf at the door."

"Before the third year of wedded life had drifted by, No. 2 doubled responsibilities and halved the already mythical leisure. Overboard went some more social junk.

During the course of the fifth year
No. 3 arrived cooingly, gurgling a 'Howdy do?' and quite oblivious of the caustic comments of the more prudent neighbors. Six years of married life, with assets of three babies and a bundle of hopes!

"Now hearken to the sequel. Six years ago I started out as a silly, shallow boy. Successive chunks of plain and wholesome responsibilities have literally clubbed me into the 'Order of Mature Manhood.'"

"My bachelor friends of old days are still boys, some more or less successful to be sure, but still overgrown boys in the real experiences of life.
I have been summarily kicked upstairs by the sheer luck of blissful ignorance (for God knows I didn't know what was ahead of me!) and now I thank Heaven nightly that all things go work together for good to the cheerful idiot."

"But listen! Such beneficent results have evolved only by dint of choosing—may, rather being chosen and endured by a perfect jewel of a wife.
There's your supreme luck, and there is no other like unto it!"

Training Outweighs

There is no better proof of

FADS AND FASHIONS

New York, March 29.—Although the average tailored suit for practical purposes still shows the customary severity and plainness of former years many of the tailored and semi-tailored costumes, intended for afternoon and informal evening wear show some trimming on the coats and slight skirt draperies. Among the best materials are eponge, plain and striped frizette, an eponge with longer nap, Bedford cord, needle cord, silk and wool faille, basket cloth, poplin, hopsacking and the fine weave serges. A feature of this season is the combination of materials. A black and white check coat, of woolen material, and a black faille skirt; a coat of black and sulphur check tops a skirt of solid sulphur color. This shows reversing of the old order when the skirt flaunted the checks and the jacket was of solid color. This new idea is introduced by Paquin. Shades of brown, blue, purple and green are the favored colors.

When a corded or striped material is employed the stripes are managed in such a way as to form trimming, and both skirts and coats may be inlaid with diagonal or horizontal bands.
This is especially effective in the two-tone materials which are still in vogue.
Diagonals stripes give a slender appearance to the figure.

Coats vary greatly in style and cut.
They are either distinctly long or distinctly short. The high cutaway model, with swallow tail or fish-tail back, will be popular. This cutaway is sometimes high enough in front to give the Eton effect. An exaggerated cutaway slopes away immediately from the bust line, and is fastened with a single large button. The less ultra model is fastened with two or three buttons. In the cutaway the back frequently hangs straight from the shoulders in long semi-fitting lines, and when the Empire line is expressed a slot seam is visible on the sides.
Joining the back and front seams.

The Russian blouse is having considerable vogue. A suggestion or variation of it appears in many of the most exclusive models. Cheruit, Bernard, Francis, and other great foreign designers have set the stamp of their approval upon it. Sometimes the blouse appears only in the front and falls softly over the fitted skirt of the jacket. The back of this coat is semi-fitting and rounds off into a swallowtail, or is finished in a square panel effect, extending three or four inches below the coat length.

In other models the blouse shows itself in the back, and the fullness is held in by a suggestion of a belt with a buckle of the material. Cords of the material are much used to outline the blouse effect. The blouse of another effect continues all the way around the coat and falls over the tight fitting lower portion, which is quite short and fits snugly, with the fullness placed in a seam several inches below the waist-line.
This seam is covered by the fullness of the upper part and is often corded or piped. In some cases the skirt or lower part rounds abruptly away from the front, fastening at the bust.
In others, especially in the coats for general wear, this portion, which is hardly more than a band approximately eight inches wide, fits closely around the hip, and is fastened with two buttons.

The difference between the Balkan and Russian blouse is not great; the Balkan blouse fits very loosely, and is belted quite low on the hip. This belt is often a sash knotted to one side, and these models are best adapted to the youthful and undeveloped figures.

Even the most severely tailored skirt shows some fullness, usually stitched into the seams in the form of flat plaits, and the disposition of drapery is varied. On some skirts it is quite low, folding the skirt in tightly at the bottom, while in others it is looped over the hips, or held in about the knees. Plaits and flat folds are characteristic of the tailored skirt, and the drapery is rarely affected by shirring or gathering.

The absence of seams is marked, as skirt are cut circular, or with three broad gores, the material extending above the waist line as a belt finish.
Skirts are still narrow at the foot line. The walking skirt is worn longer, clearing the ground, some of the skirts are slashed.

Sleeves show little change. In the man-tailored they may be long, three-quarter length, close fitting or loose with a large turn-back cuff. They are sometimes set in a dropped arm seam and here and there the kimono sleeve appears, but in the best models for street wear the sleeve is tailored in the body of the coat without fullness.
Collars are circular, square, sailor and shawl, but they are not large.

Buttons abound on both coats and skirts. They are decidedly an interesting feature of this year's styles, unique in size, color and composition.
Like the linings, they either match the suit or contrast with it. Crystal buttons are frequently centre with black or color. Whimsical little waistcoats button trimly beneath many jackets, and very modish are those showing cretone and Balkan tones. With the Shepherd's plaid or checked suit nothing could be smarter than the light red or green vest.

Semi-tailored coats follow the general lines of the tailored coats, except in some instances they are shorter. An Eton jacket with a deep pointed back is seen. In the semi-tailored skirt the drapery is more pronounced, with the slash higher and reaching almost to the knee at times. As to skirt length it should escape the floor, and wrin-kling prettily over the shoes to reveal the shoe buckles. Never has hand embroidery been more in vogue. In bright colors and conventional designs it adorns collars, cuffs and belts.

The sleeve of the semi-tailored coat is invariably of the three-quarter length, and is apt to be loose and show a trunk cuff, with lace frill.
The old fashioned bell shaped sleeve is with us again. A tiny Van Dyck ruff of lace protruding from collars is something new.

Stenciling is used on women's clothes this spring. Stenciled silk is used for collars and cuffs on coats and street suits. A conventional pattern done in bronze on yellowish green silk for collars and cuffs on a dull yellow born bedford cloth street gown is effective. Stencils are applied to net, too, for jabots and collars and cuffs. Bulgarian colorings can be used in these designs.

An interesting use of wide flowered ribbons on white lace and net bodices shows small buttons, outlined buttonholes and bows and ends of different colors. The wide ribbon is cut in hit-or-miss fashion, with the result that a tab on one sleeve shows a strip of red rose, on the other part of a blue butterfly; one button is pink, one yellow, one is green and another violet.

Tiny silk roses are used to edge ribbon girdles. They are especially effective if used with white ribbon on white gowns for young girls.

Sashes are beginning to be seen even on tailored suits.

Remarkable
Catarrh Cure

Get Right into the Affected Parts and Stops Gathering in Eyes, Noes, Throat and Lungs.

By a long series of elaborate experiments at the Swift Laboratory it is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antitoxin remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation in less than an hour.
You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infests the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 per bottle.
It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, rash, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, boils and all scrofulous conditions. For special advice on any blood disease write in confidence to The Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. at your druggists.
